PLEADS FOR PEACE AND TOLERANCE IN NATIONAL DEALINGS

Sir Samuel Hoare Makes Statement on Great Britain's Foreign Policy With Special Regard to Italo-Ethiopian Dispute—Firmly Behind Collective Security and League

LONDON, July 11 (P).—Britain tonight held out the hand of friendship to all nations. Opening full-dress debate on foreign affairs, Sir Samuel Hoare made his first statement of policy since becoming Foreign Secretary, and it was essentially a plea for tolerance, good humor, common sense and above all, for peace.

Of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute he said Britain readily admitted Italy's need for expansion and to some extent, conceded the charges against Ethiopia. But such demands had been settled in the past without recourse to war and should be in this instance.

Sir Samuel reiterated that Great Britain stood firmly behind the League of Nations and collective security.

FRIENDSHIP AFFIRMED
He urged Adolf Hitler to "make a real contribution to the cause of peace" by concluding the Eastern European pact of non-aggression. He reaffirmed British friendship with France, with the addition that Britain's friendships were not exclusive.

On Ethiopia, he sharply denied "wild statements as to our motives and our actions that have been made in certain sections of the Italian press."

"The statement that we are thinking of our colonial interests, that we are massing troops in neighboring British colonies, is completely devoid of foundation. I should like to make it clear we have always understood, and will understand, Italy's desire for overseas expansion," the Foreign Secretary went on. "We have in the past done our best to show our friendship."

FOUR INJURED IN CAR CRASH

Collision at Corner of Superior and Montreal Streets

Four women were taken to hospital for treatment of minor injuries and two automobiles were wrecked in an accident at the corner of Montreal and Superior Streets at 8:25 o'clock last night.

One of the automobiles involved in the smash was later burned when someone attempted to inspect the damage with a lighted match.

Those injured were: Miss E. Haynes, 2247 Oak Street, Winnipeg, cut over eye and bruises; Mrs. R. Menzies, same address, bruised left arm and scratches; Miss Cora Kirkham, 138 Ladysmith Street, and Miss Hilda Thain, 138 St. Lawrence Street, slight injuries and shock. Miss Haynes and Mrs. Menzies were visitors in the city from Winnipeg and were staying in Saanich.

According to information given to the police, Jack Falcon, 104 Ontario Street, was proceeding north on Montreal Street and collided with another automobile driven by A. Spolito, 1041 Pendergast Street, going west on Superior. The car driven by Mr. Falcon was turned over on its side approximately thirty feet from the point of impact. About an hour later it caught fire, either from a match or a lighted cigarette thrown onto gasoline that had leaked from the tank.

No other woman had flown East-West across the continent non-stop.

Unofficial elapsed time for the flight, which started from Floyd Bennett Airport, New York, was eighteen hours and twenty minutes.

State Troops Again Use Gas to Disperse Strikers in Tacoma

Violence Breaks Out When Paraders Block Traffic in Business Section

GUARDSMEN IN CARS SWEEP THROUGH MOB

SEATTLE, July 11 (P).—Violence broke out in Tacoma late today in the lumber strike situation there and National Guardsmen again went into action, scattering jeering and milling mobs with tear gas, as the rest of the Northwest strike area remained quiet.

A crowd of lumber strike sympathizers first assembled in the Tacoma business district and the guardsmen swept through the streets in automobiles equipped with exhaust pipe tear gas spreaders. The crowd was dispersed, only to reassemble five blocks away and they were then dispersed again.

PARADE BLOCKS TRAFFIC
Four arrests were reported made. The disturbance began when the guardsmen attempted to halt a parade of two groups of strike sympathizers, numbering about 350, who were blocking traffic in the business district, guardsmen said. A large crowd saw the melee.

One act of violence also occurred in Seattle, but otherwise the strike picture throughout the Northwest look on a brighter hue as union leaders studied the strike agreement proposal drafted in Aberdeen last night by fifty prominent Washington and Oregon lumber manufacturers and loggers.

WORKER IS BEATEN
Beiden Richards, twenty-eight-year-old employee of the Nettleton Lumber Company, of Seattle, was beaten by three men while on his way to work this morning.

Although the full force of State patrolmen remained on duty, the Longview strike area was reported calm. Mills also continued to operate without disturbances in Aberdeen and Hoquiam.

Plan to Make Stratosphere Flight Today

RAPID CITY, S.D., July 11 (P).—From a rock-walled, circular canyon in South Dakota's black hills, the world's largest free balloon will rise between 3 and 4 a.m. tomorrow, carrying two army officers on a twelve to fourteen-hour flight into the deadly thin air fourteen miles up.

Delayed since June 5, principally by unfavorable weather, initiation of the huge balloon of the exploration expedition of Captain Orvil A. Anderson, forty, and Captain Albert W. Stevens, forty-nine, was ordered today.

Continue Good Shooting at Heals Range—Sergeant J. Keir, Vancouver, Tops Aggregate—Wins Shoot-Off and Parkhurst Trophy

(By Staff Representative)
HEALS RIFLE RANGE, July 11.—Demonstrating its superior marksmanship, visiting Vancouver sharpshooters today continued to burn up the range as shooting continued for the third successive day of the fifty-seventh annual prize meeting of the British Columbia Rifle Association here.

Rifleman from the Interior, Up-Island and local points, while keeping close to the leaders, were forced by dint of circumstances to trail the Terminal City shots in the quest of honors.

A typical B.C.R.A. day, with a blazing hot sun and little breeze greeted the marksmen, while a fluctuating breeze gave them trouble. Visibility was not considered good, with a changing light taking its toll among the experts as well as the tyro and green rifle shots.

THIRTY-FOUR QUALIFY
Eighteen Vancouver marksmen and sixteen Victoria rifle shots qualified for thirty-four places in the first stage of the Lieutenant-Governor's Match, shot over three ranges, 200, 500 and 600 yards. Austrian Plan to Settle Dispute Is Arousing Interest

Would Treat Ethiopian "Case" as Problem of Major Powers' Responsibility—Italian Press Renews Barrage Against Britain—Agreement With France Is Suggested

VIENNA, July 11 (P).—An Austrian proposal for the settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute, launched today by the semi-official Reichspost, has excited considerable interest in diplomatic circles.

WILL ADVOCATE LOWER TARIFFS

The plan is believed to have been published after consultations with authoritative Italian quarters. The Reichspost proposed that France take the initiative with the League of Nations to obtain an agreement for objective consideration of "the Ethiopian case" as a problem of the major powers' responsibility toward a backward region, rather than as a dispute between Italy and Ethiopia.

FOR CIVILIZATION
It suggests that France propose the view of the Addis Ababa Government's inability to suppress the slave traffic and border raids on neighboring colonial powers, and that Britain and Italy be authorized to undertake the pacification and civilization of this region. Britain

MARCHERS TAKEN BACK BY POLICE

Twenty-One Persons Arrested After Starting From Montreal on Ottawa Trek

MONTREAL, July 11 (P).—Charged with unlawful assembly under Section 98 of the Criminal Code, three women and eighteen men, arrested at Vaudeville, Que., early today as members of a group of Montreal unemployed marching to Ottawa in search of improved conditions for the unemployed, were arraigned in court today. They are remanded to Provincial Police headquarters.

Another contingent left the city today in small groups. Officials of the committee in charge numbered the new departure at about 150, but Provincial Police officers said only about twenty-five marchers had left.

JAPANESE CITIES STRICKEN AGAIN

Twenty-Four Killed and Over Fifty Are Injured by Earth Movements

TOKIO, July 11 (P).—A naval destroyer tonight hurried medicines and relief supplies to the quake-stricken Shizuoka area where violent earth movements today shattered over 600 buildings, killing twenty-four persons and injured fifty-eight.

Striking into the rich tea district 100 miles southwest of Tokio, the tremors did greatest damage in the cities of Shizuoka, with a population of 136,000, and Shimizu, of 56,000. Most of the casualties occurred when walls of factories fell in upon hundreds of women employees.

HANKOW, China, July 11 (P).—The cruelest battering torments of the Yangtze River crashed important dikes near Nanking today, converting many square miles of green countryside into one vast lake, as unconfirmed reports from Western Honan Province said 2,000 to 3,000 persons perished in floods there.

C. L. Sharp, air mail pilot, arriving here from Shanghai, reported through two new rapids in the dike 200 miles east of Hankow, and inundating extensive low-lying farm lands.

Reports from Honan said the Lo River rose twenty feet after torrential rains, littering the landscape with human bodies and wrecking the once prosperous town of Yen-shih Hsien, twenty miles east of Honanfu.

In Hupoh Province, 10,000 persons there were said to be homeless, with 3,000 houses destroyed.

EXPANSION OF TRADE NEED AT THIS TIME

Prime Minister Lyons Does Not Believe in Restricting Production

DISCUSSED TRADE WITH MR. BENNETT

OTTAWA, July 11 (P).—Expansion of trade rather than restriction of production is the need of the present if any substantial recovery from the world depression is to come about, in the opinion of Prime Minister Joseph A. Lyons, of Australia. With Premier R. B. Bennett on one side and former Prime Minister Sir Robert Borden on the other, Mr. Lyons addressed a luncheon meeting.

"I do not believe in restricting production of foodstuffs," said Mr. Lyons. "I believe the world can consume a great deal more of the right kind of food than it now consumes. When providence has given us an abundance of food it is wrong to cut across the ends of God and deprive people of foods, which are essential to health and happiness."

SUBSTANTIAL RECOVERY
Australia had made substantial recovery from the depression, said Mr. Lyons. The Federal Government had balanced its budget since 1932, although some of the states were still experiencing financial difficulties, unemployment was decreasing, interest rates were down, and trade was increasing moderately.

"We are not out of the woods yet," he said, "but we have set the stage to take the fullest and earliest advantage of any recovery that comes."

Australians did not hope for an even balance of trade with Canada because of special circumstances, but as the years went on, they

CAUGHT AFTER YEAR'S SEARCH

Man Arrested in New York For Writing Numerous Extortion Letters

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., July 11 (P).—J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice, tonight announced the arrest in New York of a man charged with writing extortion letters demanding $400,000 to relatives of seven persons who figured in disappearance or kidnapping cases.

Hoover said the man was Alfred Otto Wagner, thirty-eight, of Brooklyn. He said the arrest wound up a year's investigation of Department of Justice agents. Fourteen letters were written by Wagner, Hoover said.

The cases were those concerning Dorothy Ann Dielshausen, of Nashville, Tenn., in which $50,000 was demanded of the child's father; George Weyerhaeuser, of Tacoma; Mrs. Berry Stoll, of Kentucky; Mrs. Ann Booth Gordon, of Connecticut; Karl Kail, in New York City; Charles D. Tull, in New York, N.Y.; and William Wells, in Philadelphia.

FOUND IN A DITCH
The Dielshausen child disappeared on September 19, 1934, and her body was later found in a ditch near her home.

The Kail boy disappeared several weeks ago. He was found drowned in the East River.

Mrs. Berry Stoll's kidnaper, Thomas Robinson, Jr., is still sought. He collected ransom and eluded the police.

Mrs. Gordon disappeared from her home in Connecticut and her body was later found. She had been drowned.

Wells, a Philadelphia figure in night life, was shot to death by the Mule gang.

The search for Tull, a retired businessman, is still going on. Hoover said Wagner wrote the letters as soon as he read of each case in the newspapers.

Steps to Secure Changes to B.N.A. Act to Be Taken

Prime Minister Says Further Reform Measures Cannot Be Undertaken Without Changes in Canadian Constitution—Proposes to Consult Provinces on Matter Without Delay

OTTAWA, July 11.—Convinced substantial action toward dealing with social and economic problems, beyond that taken at the last session, will require amendments to the constitution, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett declared today that steps to secure such constitutional reforms would be undertaken without delay.

Mr. Bennett was questioned today as to what action would be taken to implement the report of the House of Commons committee which recommended a Dominion-Provincial conference should be held on the matter of securing amendments to the constitution.

MUST BE AMENDED

Unique Initiations Explained to Court At "Branding" Trial

Inner Secrets of United Order of Nails Disclosed in Evidence Here—Grand Visor Explains Purpose of Organization and Tests

THE trial of three alleged members of an organization described as the United Order of Nails which attracted wide attention because of its association with what was termed "The Branding Case," opened before Judge A. M. Harper, in the County Court here yesterday morning and continued during the afternoon to an adjournment until 11 o'clock this morning.

The three men, who are charged with inflicting bodily harm upon Wilbert Lindstrom during an alleged initiation ceremony are: Rupert A. G. Walker, styled the "grand visor" of the group; Roland Burritt and Donald Wood, who claim membership in the organization.

EXPLAINS CEREMONY
The principal evidence yesterday was from Rupert Walker, head of the order, who described the purposes for which the organization was formed, its objects and some of the procedure in the initiation of new members. He unfolded a strange tale of ceremonies that included "branding" with the heated point of a knife; immersion of novices in the water as a purification measure; gagging; and the placing of tacks in the shoes of candidates for membership to prevent them from walking around when blindfolded.

REASON FOR TESTS
When Judge Harper asked the accused Walker what he had in view when applying tests referred to as part of the initiation ceremony the accused replied that, as head of the organization, he wanted to know the character of each member and if he would do the work assigned to him. Judge Harper intimated such a course might be of some use to growing children, but not to grown men. The judge further remarked that the "grand visor" apparently had not succeeded in avoiding a clash with the laws of the country.

The three men are charged with inflicting harm upon Wilbert Lindstrom during one of the initiation ceremonies, particular attention being paid to the branding alleged. When cross-examination of the "grand visor" was commenced by Carey Martin, appearing for the Crown, it was stated by the accused the local chapter was to have been a part of an international organization. What other chapters, if any, existed, was not disclosed in the cross-examination, and it appeared the only unit was the Victoria group of three active members, now on trial.

RECEIVED INSTRUCTIONS
Walker said that he started the group on instructions from a Mr. Graham in Vancouver. The latter called upon him and explained that this was to be a club for young men. There was nothing definite as yet, said the witness, with regard to a clubhouse, but this would follow. Graham said there was a branch in Vancouver and another in New York, but he did not know where there were others. He saw Graham in March. From him he got the objects of the club and had added to these himself.

He did not know if the club was an incorporated body. He had written to 119 Thirty-Ninth Avenue, New York, the address of a club there, but got no reply. He had also written to Graham, in Vancouver, but did not know his first name and got no reply. The local club was open to members between the ages of eighteen and thirty. Members had to bring references and were to be agreeable to the existing members of the club.

OBEDIENCE KEYNOTE
Asked if he did not think that some things admitted to have been done to members entering, were not very proper, witness said they were done for a purpose. Obedience was the chief object of the organization and this was the object in view in commanding that they let novel acts, such as to let moustaches grow, and taking courses on the street on certain times with novel apparel.

He said that the initiators had all gone through the same tests as the others. The three charged had initiated each other by performing these commands.

The evidence for the prosecution, presented by the Crown, occupied most of the day and consisted of evidence presented at the preliminary hearing. Dr. D. M. Baillie testiside shoes of the entrants consisted only, he said, of the putting of these about the instep. This was done to make sure that the initiates did not get up and wander around, as they were blindfolded, and fall through openings in the loft, where the initiation took place.

There were no gas used, said the witness. As far as pulling the hair out, he "clippers," the "grand visor" said that he had used a pair of scissors when one of the initiates complained.

When water immersion was used as a purifying medium in the initiation, Burritt and Wood got into the water before the initiates were immersed to see that no snags were there when others were thrown in.

As far as the objection to the blindfolding was concerned, Walker said that Lindstrom asked them to draw the bandage tighter if they did not want him to see what was going on.

OCEAN TRAVEL REMAINS GOOD

Many British Columbians Still Trekking Over Atlantic to Britain

Summer trek of Canadians to the Old Country continues apparently unabated, judging by bookings for forthcoming sailings to the British Isles. Whether it is just "travel" or the inducements of the Jubilee Summer in the Old Land, the fact remains that steamship travel across the Atlantic does not appear to be diminishing in any way.

Nearly fifty British Columbia travelers are booked to sail from Montreal, Friday, July 19, on the Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of York.

They include: Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Selby, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Parker, P. Barbour, Mrs. J. A. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pryce, Mrs. P. B. Tyrwhitt, Mrs. R. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Batt, S. Scott, Mrs. J. Peffer, Mrs. K. MacKenzie, A. Anthony, Vancouver; Mrs. W. Renaud and Miss M. L. Renaud, Miss J. W. Mathieson, Mrs. M. Masterion, Mr. and Mrs. M. Mitchell, Miss M. J. Lyde, Victoria; J. TAKE INTEREST IN ADULT EDUCATION

District Committees Appointed at Langford Meeting to Arrange For Classes

LANGFORD, July 11.—An interesting meeting was held Monday at the Women's Institute Hall for the purpose of discussing "Adult Education." Visitors from Colwood, Luxton and Happy Valley attended, and all were keenly interested. A letter from Dean Clements of the U.B.C. explaining the gift of the late Andrew Carnegie was read. It is the Carnegie fund which makes the adult classes possible, and a grant for this province has already been secured.

Instruction on construction, advanced dressmaking, home economics, literature and dramatics and general gardening proved to be the most popular subjects voted on. A committee with members from each district was formed as follows: Luxton and Happy Valley, Mrs. Ramsfield, Miss B. Hall and Mrs. F. C. Hutchinson; Colwood, Mrs. W. E. Stevenson and Miss E. Brown; Langford, Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen, Mrs. E. C. Brock, G. G. Cropper and K. B. Hinks.

A Scot was boasting of his knowledge of whisky and his ability to name any blend merely by tasting it. Some friends of his made a bet they could puzzle him, so after he was blindfolded a glass of whisky was put into his hands, and after taking a sip, he promptly gave the correct name.

The process was repeated, a different blend being given every time, and he was always right. At last a glass of pure water was handed, and after sipping it twice, he said, "I am not familiar with this blend but it will never be popular."

DOMINION RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS ARE AT EMPRESS HOTEL

S. J. McLean, Ottawa, assistant chief commissioner of the Dominion Board of Railway Commissioners, arrived at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon from Vancouver with Commissioners T. C. Norris and G. A. Stone. They are accompanied by J. H. Parks, division engineer, and members of their staff. The commission will sit this morning at the Court House at 10 o'clock to consider five applications.

PIONEER PASSES AT WELLINGTON

NANAIMO, July 11.—One of the real old pioneers of the district passed away tonight in the person of Alphonse Le Coquet, eighty-two, retired native of Belgium and resident of British Columbia for half century. He came west from Nova Scotia and worked in the mines in the early days of old Wellington. Later he operated a confectionery store on Commercial Street in this city, where he owned valuable property. During the real estate boom he sold his interests here and resided in Vancouver, four years later returning to Wellington, where he died.

TRADE ENVOY VISITOR HERE

R. R. Ellen Says Australian Dried Fruit Exports Gain Under Treaty

While Canada may be the greatest benefactor under the Canadian-Australian trade treaty, the latter Dominion is more than gratified with the results of the pact, according to R. R. Ellen, assistant trade commissioner to Canada from Australia, who departed here last night from the R.M.S. Niagara. Mr. Ellen, accompanied by his wife and two children, will spend a day in Victoria before proceeding east to Toronto.

Mr. Ellen is replacing C. Critchley, former assistant trade commissioner, who has returned to Australia prior to going to Batavia in the capacity of commissioner. The trade treaty, signed in 1929, has been chiefly beneficial to Australia's dried fruit export trade, while the Dominion's biggest market naturally is in the Old Country. The increase in exports to Canada in Vancouver, four years later, has assisted greatly in stabilizing the price of dried fruits shipped from Australia, the assistant commissioner stated.

"To us, that is very valuable and something we do not want to lose," Of course, we have experienced a marked increase in our wine export trade, too," Mr. Ellen stated. In all trade matters cordial relations had been maintained, and there was every reason to believe that the two Dominions would continue to trade with one another on a reciprocal basis, he asserted.

Climbers Gathering From Many Parts to Join Annual Camp

Alpine Club of Canada Making Headquarters at Mount Assiniboine for Next Three Weeks in Scenes of Superlative Beauty

By ARTHUR O. WHEELER

THE thirtieth annual camp of the Alpine Club of Canada will this year be held at Mount Assiniboine from July 13 to August 3. The clans are now gathering at the delightfully situated clubhouse on the slopes of Sulphur Mountain at Banff.

It will be a big camp and many of the members of the club are coming from many parts of Canada, from the United States, from England, and from other parts of the world. The only previous camp held there by the club was in 1920 to welcome home its returned veterans of the Great War, a rousing occasion.

A MOUNTAIN MONARCH
Mt. Assiniboine rises supreme more than a thousand feet above a group of surrounding satellites. An outstanding massif, it buries its 11,870 feet of snow-clad altitude in the clouds. It was first ascended in 1901 by Sir James Outram, with the C.P.R. Swiss guides, Christian Heller, senior, and Christian Bohrer. The mountain is frequently referred to as the Canadian Matterhorn, owing to a resemblance when seen from the north.

The names conferred upon the various topographical features speak for their striking characteristics and superlative scenic beauty: Mt. Macgill, Mt. Terrapin, from its resemblance to a tortoise; Mt. Towers, from the numerous towers, aiguilles and pinnacles into which it has been carved by prehistoric ice conditions; Mount Assiniboine, from the fact that it is so called on account of the startlingly magnificent view from its summit of the gloriously colored lakes and tumbling falls of the great Assiniboine cirque; Marvel Lake, Terrapin Lake, and Lake Gloria, gems of vivid blue and green.

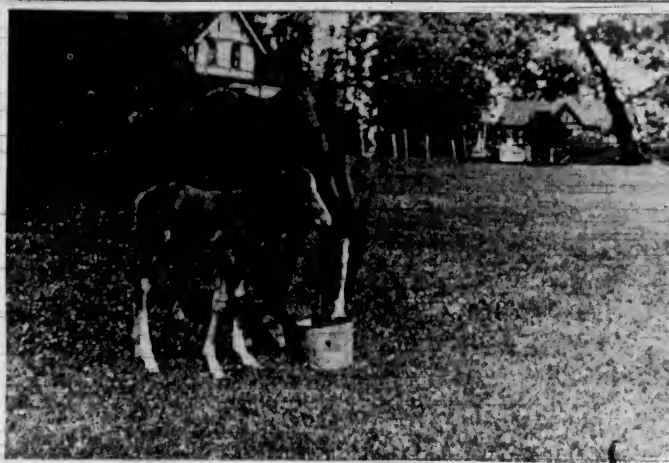

Close by, in full view are Mt. Aye, Lunette Peak, Mt. Gloria and Mt. Bon. It was on the last named that Dr. W. E. Slope, president of Purdue University, lost his life while making

PICTURESQUE CONTRASTS
All around are wide-spreading alpine meadows and groves of golden larch, picturesquely contrasted with the shining snowfields and glaciers surrounding the central massif of the group. Not very far away is the Valley of the Rocks, where whole tops of mountains through some seismic disturbance of bygone centuries have been hurled into a subterranean waterway and scattered grotesquely shaped rocks as big as houses over the floor of the valley in the wildest of wild confusion.

Six separate mountain passes give access to this wonderful scenic centre which, in an air line, is little more than twenty miles from Banff. Assiniboine Pass, Wonder Pass, Marvel Pass, Ferro Pass, Citadel Pass and Og Pass.

The three lakes, Og, Gog and Macgill, are named as guardians of the great monolith. The last lies directly below it, and close by its north margin is located the Canadian Pacific Railway's bungalow camp beside a cascading torrent. The camp is leased and operated by Erling Strom, an outstanding skier, who led the late Lindley expedition to the summit of Mt. McKinley, 20,000 feet above the sea, at the time Allen Carpe, one of the Alpine Club's members, and a companion, T. Koven, lost their lives while on a separate expedition on the same mountain to study cosmic rays. The incident was discovered by Erling Strom. This comfortable and well-furnished camp is a charming centre from which to visit the Assiniboine area. Parties conducted by Mr. Strom leave Banff every Friday.

Contentment Reigns on This Farm

"Contentment" Is the Title of This Photographic Study, and Probably No Better Title Could Be Chosen to Express the Atmosphere of Such a Scene. The Picture Was Taken by H. M. Ranch, 441 Lamson Street, Esquimalt, and Placed Eleventh in The Daily Colonist June Snapshot Contest.

During the summer months, the distance over the route, via Og Pass, is about thirty-five miles and can be made by mountain ponies or by hiking. A return can be made via the Valley of the Rocks and Citadel Pass route, which follows the Great Divide for miles through alpine meadows on the roof of the continent.

GALAXY OF WONDERS

It is in the midst of this galaxy of alpine wonders, close by the shore of Lake Macgill, the Alpine Club's camp is pitched and for a three weeks' spell a canvas city will thrill with life and color, and climbing parties will daily make assault upon the surrounding peaks and visit the high spots of outstanding scenic charm. For the occasion the Canadian Pacific Railway has loaned the services of two of its crack professional Swiss guides, Rudolph Aemmer and Ernst Feuz, both well known to the club's members as their guides, philosophers and friends.

Lloyd George Makes Scathing Attack on Government for Whole Course of British Foreign Policy—Taken to Task for Statements

LONDON, July 11 —The House of Commons tonight was in a storm as David Lloyd George, one-time Liberal leader, and Sir Austen Chamberlain, former Conservative Foreign Secretary, battled over the Treaty of Versailles, economic sanctions and the whole course of British foreign policy.

It was an odd anti-climax to the things to get to that state," said Lloyd George.

"He means he would have had the French army march into Germany at once," replied Sir Austen.

"Answer, answer," shouted the Conservatives.

"If his statement doesn't mean that, it doesn't mean anything," Sir Austen insisted.

"What do you mean by an economic sanction?" Lloyd George shot back.

"Sir Austen answered: 'It is an economic blockade. It is an act of war. Nothing short of war would make economic sanction effective.'"

"That shows you know nothing about it," sharply retorted Lloyd George.

"I thank the right honorable gentleman for his courtesy," casually returned Sir Austen, "and I leave it at that."

So Lloyd George apologized and the battle ended.

The settlement of the dispute between the plant operators and fishermen was reached, Hon. G. S. Pearson Reports Settlement of the dispute between the plant operators and fishermen was reached, Hon. G. S. Pearson Reports

The price offered for the plant this year is thirty-five cents a ton more than was paid last year. It is understood that a new plant will operate in the reduction business this year with a new process designed to capture the fertilizer and cattle feed market of England, by removing a greater percentage of the oil content from pichard, dog fish and other reducible sea life.

G. A. Alexander, assistant fisheries commissioner, has left for the mainland to commence his tour of the various fishing plants. He will return here in time to tour the West Coast of Vancouver Island during the pichard season.

Small Patient: "Need I see the doctor, mummy? I don't feel well enough."

"May I beg my right honorable friend," Sir Austen urged, "not to supply those who already have a large manufacture at home with more fallacious... He charged Lloyd George's incursions into history were incorrect."

"When he says all the harsh provisions of the Treaty of Versailles applied, has he been asleep?" Sir Austen asked. "Have literary labors so occupied his time he had no time to read what has been going on—reparations swept away, the occupation of Germany terminated five years before its time."

HEATED EXCHANGE
"The Versailles Treaty did not fix a reparations figure at all," Lloyd George interrupted, jumping to his feet. "It said Germany must pay to the utmost limit of her capacity."

"If my right honorable friend cannot get world history correctly," retorted Sir Austen, "do let him remember his own history."

"Lloyd George has called Stresemann a 'famous sinner,'" the former Foreign Secretary continued, "but in view of the German rearmament, what would Lloyd George himself have done?"

"I would never have allowed,"

ODD FIGHTS DESCRIBED

Indians Sometimes Killed in Strange Battle Without Physical Violence

WASHINGTON, July 11 —Thought-battles which strike contenders dead without physical contact yesterday were listed as "the strangest fights on earth."

They take place among the Mission Indians of Southern California and were described by Dr. John P. Harrington, ethnologist of the Smithsonian Institute.

The mind is the only weapon. The fighters are medicine men.

Dr. Harrington said they often compete at village fiestas before large crowds. In getting up a match, the home talent, usually four or five men, challenge an outsider to battle. To win he need only walk across a line drawn in the centre of the road, but it often proves as effective a barrier as a stone wall.

In preparation, the contenders withdraw to dress in a feather costume, muttering magical incantations the while. The contest begins when he emerges to face his opponent, line up on the opposite side of the mark.

MAGICAL STRENGTH
Walking toward them, confidently at first, he reaches to catch invisible balls from the air, thus building up his spiritual powers. Some he misses, but with each catch he presses his hands to his heart to accumulate magical strength, with which to overcome the defenders.

Breathless excitement falls over the watching throng as the victor approaches the line. Meanwhile, the home-town boys are doing their own bit of secret magic-making.

Sometimes the contender falls to the ground, struggled as in an epileptic fit, rises and falls again, finally crossing the line with considerable effort.

At other times he may be knocked unconscious as effectively as though he had been struck by an uppercut. There have been many instances.

Dr. Harrington said, when the knockout came death. In that event the contender is given an elaborate funeral, which becomes part of the general festivities.

ARMAMENT INCREASES

With all due appreciation of the good work that the League of Nations has done in a variety of directions, there is one path that it has trodden to no purpose. It has not been successful in curtailing the money spent on armaments. There is a reminder of this in the proposal of an increase of thirty-five per cent in the forthcoming estimate for Japan's naval needs, the new appropriation to be sought totalling $178,480,000. It is true that Japan is no longer a member of the League and therefore is not governed by its sanctions. It is, however, the same with practically every nation. There was $560,000,000 more spent on armaments in 1934 than in 1933.

The figure quoted affecting armament increases comes from the Armament Year Book of the League of Nations. It points out that Soviet Russia has now an army of nearly 1,000,000 men. At the end of 1934 the strength was 940,000. Increased to that figure from 534,300 in 1933. Japan's army in 1934 was estimated at 299,824 men and 13,399 officers. Navy estimates for that empire numbered 139,688. France's army was 366,456 in home territory, with a total including overseas forces, of 350,678. The year book places Germany's army at 102,000, but takes no notice of the new forces created under Nazism. Italy's average conscript army is given as 390,000. The United States army is placed at 137,679 men on June 30, 1934, with National Guards and reserves bringing the total up to 439,240. In 1934 the total war tonnage of the world was estimated at 5,830,000 tons. Expenditures on armaments during 1934 were $4,900,000,000, as compared with $4,400,000,000 in 1933. In 1925 the total cost was $3,500,000,000.

In the last ten years the increase in armament outlays has been approximately $1,500,000,000. The race is led by Russia and Japan and all the seven Great Powers, with the exception of France and Italy, show increases. Great Britain in 1930 spent $85,000,000 on armaments, and for 1935 the estimate is $107,000,000. France in 1930 spent $16,000,000,000 francs, and the estimate for the current year is 16,223,000,000 francs. Germany in 1930 spent 681,000,000 marks, and the current estimate is 894,000,000 marks. Italy's expenditure in 1930 was 4,960,000,000 lire, and for 1935 4,300,000,000 lire. Japan in 1930 spent 495,000,000 yen, for 1935 the estimate is 1,021,000,000 yen. Russia spent 1,046,000,000 roubles in 1930, and this year is spending 6,500,000,000 roubles. The United States in 1930 spent $704,000,000, this year the estimate is $902,000,000. All the foregoing figures are taken from the League of Nations Armament Year Book, and therefore may be regarded as official.

AUSTRIAN POLITICS

The restoration of the Hapsburg properties by the Vienna Cabinet is regarded in some quarters as a move preparatory to the re-establishment of that dynasty on the throne of Austria. When republicanism was proclaimed in the country in 1919 the royal properties were seized by the State. They consist of about a dozen castles, valuable business property, extensive forest land and rich farms. The Cabinet's attitude is that it is righting a wrong done after the Great War.

Under republicanism Austria has had some sorry experiences. It no longer enjoys the position in Europe that it occupied prior to 1914. No nation failed to a greater extent in recovering its prestige because of defeat in the Great War. Hence there has been a good deal of unrest in Austria. There are at present two militant sections striving for control in the Diet: one is the Home Guards, who favor maintaining Austrian sovereignty; the other section has a leaning towards affiliation with Nazi Germany. Because of political conditions, Austria for many years, in semblance, if not in reality, has been a ward of the Great Powers. They have had to come to her assistance financially; they have had to guarantee her independence. The country has been the scene of much bloodshed under republicanism. Her fiscal system collapsed more than once. It appears as if Austria has an almost impossible task ahead in her efforts to flourish under a republican form of government. It is such considerations that make it conceivable that there is a movement in favor of restoring the monarchy. That step would very probably be one in the direction of national recovery and one which would put a stop to the ever-recurring efforts of the Nazis to bring about geographical alignment of Austria and Germany.

ELECTION CAMPAIGN PROPAGANDA

The most careless observer can hardly have failed to notice that, for quite a while Liberal propagandists have been repeating in season and out of season with a studied affectation of casualness and in tones which convey the suggestion of a foregone conclusion that the present Conservative Government at Ottawa will of course be defeated at the approaching general election. Comparatively recent events have tended somewhat to weaken the confidence of those who repeat this slogan; nevertheless, Mr. King's followers, well aware of the psychological and moral effect of iteration and reiteration, continue to use the formula upon all occasions in the public press and in ordinary intercourse. No one will deny that this is an effective kind of campaign tactics. Similar tactics helped in a considerable degree to carry the last Provincial election in this Province. The Liberal party managers, as a matter of deep policy, repeat the slogan as often as possible, hoping that it will "catch on" and that it will seem like a spontaneous expression of opinion. Everyone knows how easy it is to convince that an "opinion" shall pass from one to another until by the mere influence of repetition people will adopt it as their own.

Note and Comment

By R. R. D.

Men must not be poor: idleness is the root of all evil; the world-wide enough, let em-bustle—Paraphrase.

In the nursery stage of humanity the member of the family who can tell a story is usually very popular, and in the evening by the fireside his or her talents are generally put to the touch or to the test. At least such used to be the rule, and as humanity never changes in its interests, we suppose the conditions today are as they were yesterday—or a few days before. In the catalogue of nursery tales there was a story about an old woman who had so many children she did not know what to do. The circumstances of most of the nations of the world today closely resemble the circumstances of the old woman of the nursery stories. The nations all have so many children that they do not know what to do with them.

The old woman was distressed about the magnitude of her responsibilities. The nations are in a quandary about their own responsibilities. The old woman's responsibilities, however, were merely temporary, for children grow up, and in process of time go out into the world and make provision for themselves. We suppose that the responsibilities of nations will come to an end in the same way if their charges have patience and are fitted by nature for the inevitable struggle of all physical life, but there seems to be a catch in the analogy somewhere, for there was a natural period to the productivity of the old woman, while the fertility of the nations seems to have no limit. The families of the nations continue to grow and grow, and the opportunities for them do not continue to grow and grow correspondingly. Production of people goes on, business stagnates, and we have the conditions known as unemployment.

The problem, therefore, for the nations is to balance human production with business and industrial production—so that those who are willing to work and produce may find opportunities for work and production. Some of the nations are doing that; others are not doing that—at least as the profound economists tell us. We are told on high authority that the reason why so many people are unemployed is that money is unemployed, and that the responsibility for this condition which is at the root of all present international evil is upon the biggest nation of the family of nations. We are told there is in the world a national miser, which has collected and is hoarding about two-thirds of the world's money. This miser has dug somewhere in the national interior where it will be safe against the possible actions of either national or individual raiders. Gold is no longer a currency anywhere but it is a security against which currency may be issued and circulated. The conditions are an unnatural, however, that while there is an abundance of credit obtainable in the big nation, there is at the same time business stagnation, and there is no demand for credit. The gold is lying in the hole dug for it, and neither the currency nor the credit of which it is the basis is being used for practical business purposes. The unemployment of labor coincides with the unemployment of money. The moral or the lesson to be deduced from this known situation is that if money were employed, labor also would be employed, and that instead of general stagnation there would be general progress.

There is a great deal of popular misapprehension, particularly in this West, regarding the nature and the use of money. In the Toronto Mail and Empire of about a week ago there was an editorial on the nature and its distribution of money. Our contemporary says: "As has often been emphasized in these columns the bond issues of municipalities and governments are held, in the main, not by rich individuals or the Big Interests, but by a multitude of small people who have directly invested their hard-earned savings in these issues or by trust companies, life insurance companies, banks and other institutions whose available funds are largely made up of these savings of small people. Our point is driven home by a statement recently compiled by Mr. Thomas Bradshaw, of the North America Life Insurance Company and executive director of the Bank of Canada, showing the distribution of municipal bonds throughout the Dominion. The institutions which have in their portfolios no less than $1,200,000,000 of these securities are listed thus: (1) Telephone companies for the account of estates, 335,000,000; (2) Life insurance companies, 215,000,000; (3) Municipal sinking funds in Canada, the interest on which is paid to the holders of the bonds, 200,000,000; (4) Prudential benefit societies, 100,000,000; (5) Banks in Canada, 90,000,000; (6) Religious, educational, charitable and other endowment funds, dependent upon the interest income of investments, 65,000,000; (7) Pension funds of civil servants, 50,000,000; (8) Other concerns, 2,000,000.

Australia's Recovery

Australia, as well as Canada, is benefiting very substantially from the Empire trade agreements negotiated at Ottawa a few years ago. The bulk of the intra-Imperial trade of the Commonwealth is growing steadily, and the general finances of the country are reflecting this condition. The Government announces a surplus of $3,500,000 for the fiscal year 1934-1935, and the Treasury Department claims this is due to "general improvement in conditions." The Australian surplus was realized despite the fact that the Government paid out $20,000,000 for wheat relief and no provision had been made for this in the budget. It is symptomatic of improved conditions that through general revenue from taxation a sum of $16,345,000 in excess of the estimates was secured. Australia, through the medium of a balanced budget, is well on the road to recovery. It is where balanced budgets prevail that there is the best evidence of economic welfare.

IRISH GYPSY

Would it be you that's talking,
And I to be listening here—
With never a word between us,
For many a lonely year?
And would it be you that's laughing?
But ah! sure how could it be
When the gaunt grey hills divide us,
An' all the width of the sea!

But surely yourself is singing?
(Ah! well, I know that song!)
For oft it lightened my journey
On many a road, and long!
But the singing's gone with the laughter,
An' the laughter's lost in the years,
An' only dim vision comes now,
To eyes that would welcome tears.

But something I have to cheer me,
To lighten my tread when I
Am tramping the long roads, lonely,
When hope and the old dreams die,
Ah! sure, it's the way I'm knowing
That never I'll have to part
With the small, glad ghosts from the old days,
That scamper across my heart!

APPRENTICESHIP ADVISERS MEET

Are Formulating General Basis for Scheme for Youth—To Recommend Appointments

The newly-formed apprenticeship committee of the Department of Labor is now in session in Vancouver, it was announced yesterday by Hon. G. S. Pearson, Minister of Labor and Mines.

Conferences with industrial leaders, manufacturers, trades union representatives and professions will not be held until after the committee has formulated some general plan for the institution of a legal contract scheme of apprenticeship.

The members, who are acting in an advisory capacity, will in all probability recommend a vocational director, and an apprenticeship supervisor to the minister, so that the appointments can be made after thorough consideration has been given to every angle of the plan.

However, moves already are being made to take apprentices into vocational training and professions. The city school board has signified its intention of apprenticing youths to the carpenter and joiners' trade. Other institutions and firms are expected to follow.

Dress 'Em All Alike

The Girls' Central School holds the distinction of being the only public school in Canada whose students are confined to girls. The students should help to make this distinction more evident by adopting a uniform. The girls' school is a private school and, just as private girls' schools do only by compulsion. It would help to stimulate the loyalty of the students to their school, and single out for special attention from the public—P.C.R.

Shave It, Lady, Shave It

A news dispatch from Paris, France, reports that according to latest styles, a lady's hair must be set in the morning as her hair is a wonderful thought inquired what would happen if she owned a Mexican hairless—W.J.H.

They Gave Him the Works

To Dr. K. Graham Gilliam, of the Pacific Northwest Veterans' Medical Association convention here, belongs the honor of having dined alone and unaided with forty women. It was Doc's birthday, so all by himself he attended a luncheon given at the Hudson's Bay Company for wives of the veterinarians. The head waitress entered into the spirit of the occasion and deposited forty checks upon Doc's plate—G.B.

Low-Downs and High-Ups

Scribbled while sauntering home at 1 a.m. . . Why do all night boats leaving Victoria harbor give such feeble tweets? In Vancouver and Seattle everybody knows when a boat is about to pull out . . . What well-paid school teacher recently secured a position for the Summer holidays in a Fort Street building? . . . Why do the majority of businessmen write their signatures so unintelligibly? . . . Flirting with danger—the woman at the corner of Douglas Street and King's Road probing with a ruler in the gasoline tank of her automobile while a cigarette nonchalantly dangled from her lips . . . This week's laziest mortal—the man whose wife went away for a honeymoon and who borrowed the neighbor's two dogs to help with the dishes . . . When the florist married the butcher's daughter—the organist whacked out "Hearts and Flowers"—G.B.

A Word to the Wise

Mac was full of pep the other morning and was proudly claiming that he had excelled himself as a bill collector, having collected $100. In the afternoon he had left him, and in a confidential whisper he explained to us he had suddenly lost his ability and had collected only $1 since noon. Then it was he made this sage remark for the benefit of all bill collectors: "Go to sleep in the morning as at that time they do not yet know how bad business is going to be"—N.A.C.M.

Do You Know That

Bruce Humber, ace sprinter at the University of Washington, is a local youngster. He ran in local competition at the Victoria High School before heading across the border to complete his education. George Kelly, who used to roam around the Royal Athletic Park before the war as a member of the Victoria ball squad, at one time was chasing Babe Ruth for home-run honors. The chase was short-lived, however, as the Bambino, like Omaha, started to pull away from the field. Walter Gravlin, Fred Burns and Fred Clunk, three local golf pros, started their careers as caddies, the former pair at Oak Bay links, and the latter at Royal Colwood. Dr. Cecil Hay, Port Angeles angler deluxe, was one of Victoria's finest sprint experts of several years ago. Fishing is one of his outdoor hobbies now, but he's still busy interested in local track activities—J.D.

Shoot 'Em, Big Fellow

There are many friendly people gathered at Heals Rifle Range for the fifty-seventh annual meeting of the British Columbia Rifle Association, and all of them are enjoying the good food being served in the dining-room; but many of them, including the writer, would like to know just why the mosquitoes and there are plenty of them, should turn carnal and nibble at the unprotected flesh of the innocent on-lookers. Surely there must be some way to keep these little fellows off or on human flesh—S.T.

HOW TO MAKE ICED TEA

Infuse six heaping teaspoons of Salada Black Tea in a pint of fresh boiling water. After six minutes strain liquid into two-quart container. While hot, add 1½ cups of granulated sugar and the juice of 2 lemons. Stir well until sugar is dissolved. Fill container with cold water. Do not allow tea to cool before adding the cold water, otherwise liquid will become cloudy. Serve with chopped ice.

Letters to the Editor

Sir,—In your editorial "Confused Thoughts on Alberta" you state: "There are indeed two social credit parties in the province." Last year readers were confused on this matter. I hope you will permit me to make this correction: There are not two social credit parties in Alberta; in the political sense, there is only one, that of Mr. Aberhart.

The Douglas Social Credit movement in Alberta, under the name "Alberta Provincial Douglas Social Credit Association," is not a party and is not in politics in any way. It is simply and entirely an educational movement, with its sole object the spreading of knowledge concerning the economic and monetary proposals of Mr. C.H. Douglas.

Mr. Aberhart's party, while carrying the label "Social Credit," is in no way whatever connected with the Douglas movement, and Mr. Aberhart's party is not a party in the political sense. It is in no way whatever related to those urged by Social Credit, but are, in important respects, entirely opposite in aim and means. I have pleasure in enclosing for your information a statement of the total difference between Mr. Aberhart's plan and the Douglas Social Credit proposals. Readers who are interested in the matter may secure copies of this by writing to Douglas Social Credit, British Columbia Section, 402 Shelly Building, Vancouver, B.C.

I read with interest and amusement Mr. Spencer Percival's letter on Social Credit and will shortly reply, pointing out his mistakes.

THE "CO-AGITATOR"

Sir,—Heard outside the Memorial Hall in passing . . . Two boys, evidently from choir, standing outside asking the conversation was not heard—only this sentence: "I don't like the new co-agitator; do you?" A. P. CUNNINGHAM, 1171 Rockland Ave., Victoria, B.C., July 10, 1935.

SCANDINAVIANS

Sir,—Let me inform some of those gentlemen in these camps that the Scandinavian groups are not a branch of the Slavonic groups. Those people known as the Scandinavians are the Norwegians and Swedes and the Danes. These three country's peoples constitute the Scandinavian groups. They are a branch of the Teutonic groups of Central Europe. They are not any near relatives to the Slavs.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From The Daily British Colonist of July 12, 1885

New Bunk Building. The hurried columns for the new bank building on Government Street were being placed in position yesterday. They are superior to any iron work for building purposes ever used here.

New Marine Surveyor. Captain Eugene Broude of Port Townsend, Wash., newly appointed surveyor and marine surveyor of the Board of Marine Underwriters of British Columbia, for the Pacific Coast ports.

Kootenay Mine. A letter to The Colonist from Bend Point, Idaho, says that K. T. Calhoun, with his pack-train of mules and horses, has just arrived at Kootenay, after a tour of the mine and for this time of the year there is quite a rush to Bend Point. About forty Calhouns from the Bend Point mine are now on their way taking out from $1.50 to $2.00 per day. After the water goes down, they expect to do better.

Interest Revenue. The dealers in spirits and tobacco have not as yet received any notification of advance in excise charges. The probability is that spirits will be advanced in a corresponding extent with imported liquors, and that tobacco will be increased eight cents, making it, as before, twenty cents per pound.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height were taken to distinguish high water from low water. Where blank space is left, the figure is to be added continuously during two successive tidal cycles.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

Mrs. Waley Declares Her Confession Made Under Police Threats

Tried to Plead Guilty to Escape Trial Under Washington State Law—George Weyerhaeuser Tells Story of His Kidnapping

FEDERAL COURTROOM, TACOMA, July 11. (P)—Testifying in her own defence in the George Weyerhaeuser kidnap trial today, nineteen-year-old Margaret Thulin Waley charged that William Dainard, fugitive co-defendant, threatened to kill her, her husband and little George. "If I asked any questions or let on like I knew what was going on," it was these threats, coupled with Judge Cushman had denied motions for dismissal of a Lindbergh law kidnap charge and a directed verdict of acquittal on the conspiracy count of her indictment.

THE STAR WITNESS
George had been the Government's star witness earlier in the day. He recounted the story of his kidnapping, his confinement in two pits, riding around the country in a drunk on the rear of an automobile, of being tied to a tree above Newman Lake and of his release the morning of June 1, near Issaquah.

THREATS OF AGENTS
Mrs. Waley, under questioning attributed her two attempts to plead guilty to threats of the Federal agents, that unless she did, she and Harmon would be tried under the Washington state law, which makes kidnapping a capital offence.

"I didn't intend they should have either Harmon or me," she said. She said the agents also threatened that they would charge her and Harmon with leaving the state after commission of a crime, charge her relatives with harboring criminals and five other charges.

Court recessed until tomorrow morning when United States District Attorney J. Charles Dennis said he did not wish to begin cross-examination a few minutes before 5 p.m., the regular recess time.

Mrs. Waley was examined by her chief defence counsel, former Mayor John F. Dore, of Seattle, after she said Dainard, also charged

Court of Appeal Victoria Sittings

Vancouver Waterfront, Ltd. vs. Vancouver Harbor Commissioners.

Appeal by the defendant from the judgment of Morrison, C.J., of March 26, 1933, in an action for damages against the defendant for wrongfully entering upon the plaintiff's lands adjacent to Trinity Street in Vancouver and depositing earth and other material thereon and for an injunction directing the removal thereof and restraining the defendant from continuing the trespass.

The plaintiff owns portions of the foreshore on, and land under Burrard Inlet shown as Parcel "C," Reference Plan No. 2344 and Parcel "D," Reference Plan No. 2447, lying in front of Lots 1 and 2, Block 1, District Lot 184, Group 1, New Westminster District, according to plan registered under No. 178. The defendant occupies a strip of land lying to the south of the above described water lots and designed for use by it as a terminal railway for the harbor of the city, and the plaintiff claims the defendant has trespassed on its lots by depositing earth and other material thereon, since July 11, 1934, for sixty feet northward from and along the southern boundary of its lots.

The defendant claims that the plaintiff's lots were acquired by a grant pursuant to agreement with the defendant as administrator for the Crown in exchange for the strip of land to the south of and adjoining said lots which were the property of the plaintiff, and the plaintiff when entering into the agreement knew this strip was required for a right-of-way for a railway, and a fill had to be constructed on said strip involving a bank or slope of rest extending seaward northward from the strip and over the plaintiff's lots, and the fill was constructed with good engineering practice, and the resulting bank upon the plaintiff's lots was confined to the slope of rest actually required for said fill.

An injunction was granted and the defendant was given three months within which to remove the material from the plaintiff's lots. The appeal is being argued before Martin, J.A. (presiding), McPhillips, M.A. MacDonald and McQuarrie, JJA.

W. E. Burns, K.C., for appellant; A. Alexander and C. H. Dorrell for respondents.

A NOVEL REASON

LONDON. (P)—I cannot attend court as I have recently obtained a position as a driving instructor. He wrote a motorist who was fined $10 at Kingston for driving on the wrong side of a traffic island.

Nine charges were withdrawn.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Seven men committed for jury trial in the King's Bench Court opening September 10. Committed for trial at the afternoon sitting were Caspar Blum, Fred Nogami, Nick Schack, Maurice Dean and Sam Coury, all strikers. They were all committed on rioting charges.

Dean and Coury were cited as members of the strikers' first and second squad which went to Ashtaburn of men injured in the riot.

Police said Dean had been seen throwing rocks and that rocks were found in his first aid kit. He tripped over a fence on the City Hall lawn and was arrested.

SAW WOOD THROWN

Jack Faville, a Regina citizen, testified in four cases and gave evidence of strikers' actions. He said he saw Coury throw a piece of wood at a city constable.

Caspar Blum was reported to have thrown a brick through an open window of a mounted police car on Broad Street. The brick hit Constable Mallory and caused injuries which resulted in his removal to hospital.

Sixteen cases remain on the city police docket.
Charges against strike leaders will be proceeded with in R.C.M.P. court Friday.

DECIDE FINAL DATE OF ENTRY

List of Horticultural Society Events Will Close Next Thursday

Entries for the home gardens contest of the Victoria Horticultural Society's annual home garden contest will close on Thursday, July 18, the executive of the society decided last night.

This action was taken because the Summer Show had been deferred one week and the contest was connected with the show.

The competition is open to all residents within the two and a half mile circle, and three classes have been arranged which enables practically any size garden to be entered for the competition, even those which occasionally employ paid help.

All gardens should have vegetables as well as flowers and shrubs, as the score card allows 200 points for vegetables. A similar award is made for flowers. In addition to the society's trophies, cash awards are given in each class, and all competitors making 75 per cent of the total will receive additional prizes of merit.

Copies of the rule and score card can be obtained from P. E. Boulter, secretary, 338, Obed Avenue, telephone E 8490.

In all some 3,000 men, women and children will be affected by the shutdown. They will be sent to Vancouver, but no plans were announced as to what provision would be made for them there.

When Captain Scott was born

That intrepid explorer, Captain Scott, whose memory is revered throughout the Empire, was born in 1868.

The EMU Company was founded in the same year and has made history in another direction. It was a pioneer of Australian Wines and is to-day the largest exporter of wines from Australia.

EMU 444 and EMU 999—White and Tawny Port—are two of the Company's most famous wines. Produced on our own vineyards at Morphett Vale (South Australia), made under hygienic conditions and aged in the wood, they are Australia's choicest Ports.

Because of their Empire origin, they receive a tariff preference when entering Canada, which explains why they cost much less than Foreign Port of equal quality.

TRADE EXPANSION IS PRESENT NEED

would like to see their exports to and their imports from Canada coming closer together without any decrease either way.

A NEW TREATY

On his visit to Ottawa he had discussed trade matters with Mr. Bennett. A new trade agreement with Canada embodying additional features is desired by Australia. In his conference with Prime Minister R. B. Bennett he has been discussing proposals for a new treaty, although he declined to give any details. The matter will be pursued further at later conference.

The Empire trade agreements negotiated in 1932 had proved satisfactory in 1934 and had brought about the increase in trade. Australia was twenty-four hours daily.

anxious to achieve further increases and believed a revision of the present treaty in the light of experience would accomplish this. While it was true Canadian exports to Australia had increased more rapidly than Australian exports to Canada, Australia had no grievance and did not consider it had got the worst of the bargain.

He believed it would be a good thing if representatives of the various parts of the Empire could exchange visits more often.

The world was now troubled by war clouds, said Mr. Lyons, but he expressed the hope common sense would prevail and peace would not be disturbed.

With this fine start, he entered the University of Toronto, where his career was unusually brilliant. He took first place in the classical course and won the McCaul Gold Medal for his thesis on "The History of the University of Toronto" in 1902. For two years following he was appointed instructor of Greek and Alexander Mackenzie Fellow in political science. There followed a post-graduate course in history, economics and sociology at Columbia University, New York, where, in 1905, when only twenty-three years of age, he won his Ph.D. degree.

Returning to Toronto he took charge of the history department at McMaster University during the period 1905 to 1909, and at the same time completed his theology in Knox College, from which he graduated in 1910. Further post-graduate courses followed in the University of Chicago and in the Universities of Halle and Berlin, in Germany.

When the new University of Saskatchewan was organized in 1909, Dr. Oliver was appointed professor of history and economics, and to him fell the honor of giving the first lecture in that institution. In 1913 he was appointed the first principal of the Presbyterian Theological College (now St. Andrew's College) at Saskatoon, which, under the United Church of Canada, he continued to serve. In 1916, Dr. Oliver went overseas as chaplain of the 19th, or Western Universities, Battalion. Says Excessive Taxation Hurting Louisiana State "Excessive taxation in Louisiana is driving industry out of the state," Jefferson C. Wenck, retired attorney of New Orleans, explained at the Empress Hotel before leaving with his wife yesterday for Campbell Lake in search of trout.

Mr. Wenck declared Senator Huey P. Long, who has an ambition to become President of the United States, is in complete control of the Legislature, dominating the governorship and the courts of the state. In brief, the visitor explained, Senator Long had established a dictatorship that was unique in state government.

Mr. and Mrs. Wenck are ardent admirers of Vancouver Island and have been coming here annually for several years.

Puget Sound Purse Seiners Turn Down 1935 Salmon Prices

SEATTLE, July 11 (A.P.)—More than 1,200 Puget Sound purse seine fishermen and 300 boats are idle today because purse seining, by a vote of 10 to 1, turned down salmon prices for the 1935 season.

The strike vote was taken Monday and Tuesday in Seattle, Tacoma, Bellingham, Everett, Quilley and Gig Harbor. Headquarters of the union are in Bellingham. About 95 per cent of the purse seine fishermen are members of the Salmon Purse Seiners Union.

Packers in Anacortes and Bellingham announced they couldn't afford to operate at prices demanded by the fishermen and would not operate their plants this year. Several hundred cannery workers will lose seasonal employment because of the vote.

MINIMUM PRICES
The union asked the following minimum prices: Jumpsies, 14 to 15 cents; sockeyes, 80 cents; cohoes, 30 cents; alvies, 75 cents and $1.00 for all over 12 pounds in weight. The minimum price accepted by the Puget Sound Vessel Owners' Association from the cannery operators and rejected by the union follows: Sockeyes, 60 cents; cohoes, 20 cents; pinks, 10 cents; spring, 14 pounds or more, 75 cents and $1.00.

Gladys Glad On Beauty

"When Queen Elizabeth ruled England, I am told, Sir Walter Raleigh brought back with him from Italy a pair of perfumed and lubricated gloves as a gift to the Queen. These gloves were not only meant for dress wear, but also for night wear. For the lubricant included in their make-up was expected to keep the hands soft, smooth and velvety. According to the story, Lilyan Dell, women today have just as much need of night gloves as Queen Bess and her subjects did. Lilyan has beautiful hands—not only are they shapely and expressive, but they are also soft and fine-textured, and it is because she gets them such excellent care at all times that they are so."

Lubricant Helps

A great deal can be done, however, to keep the hands soft and smooth if they are properly cleaned and lubricated. For a good lubricant restores the essential oils that keep the skin supple and smooth. In the first place, the hands should always be dried thoroughly after each time they are washed. Then a good hand lotion or rich cream should be massaged into them in order to counteract any drying effects of the cleansing.

Plenty of lubrication should be given the hands before retiring at night. An excellent trick is to procure a pair of chamomile gloves, one size too large, and coat them inside with a good, rich cream. Then, each night before retiring, cleanse the hands and massage a quantity of the cream into them. After this, don the cream-coated gloves, and permit them to remain on all night. You'll find that this procedure will restore the essential oils that keep the skin supple, and will help to preserve an alluring softness and smoothness of your hands.

Editor's Note

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 11.—Thoughts while strolling: Park Avenue pentagonies. Using the hot water bottle to sprinkle flowers. A runaway firm—Gallup and Slyde.

Started the craze for cocker spaniels. Arthur William Brown's blue collars and canary yellow ties.

No hotel looks so outdated yet comfortable as the Murray-Hill. Ever-strange word: subsidy. That Gay 90 prevails. White flannels, wide Panama and flowing black bow. Lesser enthusiasts: Margalo Gilmore.

Nothing is more desolate than the front of an unused theatre. Silest of pates: Donald Merk. Ryley Cooper, Postmaster-General Party. Huey Long is the widest arm-waver among the modern orators. Irvin Cobb's best speeches are without a single gesture. Job Hedges had the slowest delivery.

Belonging on Fifth Avenue. A show in a Rolls and a Sealyham in a Dusenberk barking at each other furiously. Jack London always separated the human race into two classes: the living and the dead. Be fun to take Burton Holmes on a ferryboat ride to Staten Island.

Swim in the Mediterranean. Huey Long's word description of young Teddy Roosevelt—grinny. Gertrude Stein calls Harry Leon Wilson America's A. J. chair. Later I went to the little patch of villainy and vice known as the Haymarket, bought a thimble for one of the roguishly rouged percentage girls—English-born and the first person I ever heard with a Cockney accent.

It was an evening of thrills with all those mysterious things gliding by in fascinating waves that make a city lurid and exciting to a Siles.

If people would let me alone standing on the outside of a Central Park kid diamond, a foul fell at my feet. I intended to toss it to the nearby field. But J. Kayley diverted me with "See if you can throw this to the home plate." I tried and jerked the Jerusalem out of a white string or something. And eat soup with a roundhouse swing ever since.

Modesty has become the biggest asset of the newest jazz dance leaders. He is an importation, an almost albino blond from London.

He is by almost imperceptible gestures from the wrist. Slight, pale and with a peacock manner, he reigns at the smart Rainbow Room, where the unwhittled and bearded bosquets of palms. Noble, composer of such sturdy tunes as "Good Night, Sweetheart" and "Love Is the Sweetest Thing" mumbles over the radio like a half-frightened schoolboy afraid his voice may change any moment. Already he is notched next to Paul Whiteman as an exponent of dance rhythm.

The demolition of the New York Theatre and its famous roof marks the passing of a glamorous Rialto landmark. On the roof Ziegfeld revealed the first of those Summer revues with beautiful girls melting into entrancing scenes and which became the two historic follies. It was here Lillian Lorraine, in sun-bonnet charm, swung over the audience, a pendulum of roses, and became the toast of the town. Bert Williams, as I recall, first introduced here his pantomime poker game, and there was a girl from Milwaukee in the front-line chorus that was to be heard from emotionally. You know her as Nora Bayes.

It was on the New York Roof my first week in the big town. I saw my first New York "first night." As a standee. What interested me more than the audience or play was a close-up of Alan Dale, best advertised of the New York critics to those of us in outland journalism. There was another critic, too, who came in a sweater—"Stuffy" Davis. That night also I had my first view of Diamond Jim Brady with his headlight glare. Sadie Barnach, prematurely white haired the dandy of the moment, was in an politics and placing them in charge of an independent highway commission. It is anticipated that this, and many other matters affecting the welfare of the Island, will be dealt with by a number of speakers.

NEW DEAL PETITION TO BE CIRCULATED

Mr. Higgins brought up the question of agitation of those interested in a new deal for Vancouver Island with the Tourist Trade Development Association. Both he and Mr. Hatt thought it would be best to keep the movement entirely independent of all organizations and absolutely non-political.

Alderman Walter Loney pointed out that since the Tourist Trade Development Association was in existence he thought another separate group was necessary. T. H. Elick said that $200 from funds of the association had already been used on new deal work for printing and postage. Mayor David Leeming, chairman, stated that he was attending the meeting as president of the association and pointed out the movement for a new deal was one by the citizens of Vancouver Island and not by the Association.

DELAY OPPOSED

F. E. Winslow thought it would be best to hold a mass meeting of citizens after the Dominion election campaign. Harold Husband, Trustee George and H. T. Matson voiced opposition to this.

"The very fact that Up-Island communities are solidly organized in the movement for a new deal shows us that we must not lag behind. We must keep hammering away and act by holding the meeting as soon as possible," declared Mr. Matson.

"We have lost our wealth producers through economic conditions on Vancouver Island. We have lost the financial, commercial and industrial pre-eminence that we possessed at one time," asserted Mayor Leeming. "We must replace it with something that nobody can take away."

We must have non-political unity of thought on the Island before we are able to develop the tourist industry to weather any economic storm. It is essential that we appeal to our members in the Legislature," he added. The Mayor gave an account of the formation and activities of the Tourist Trade Development Association, pointing out that both the association and the movement for a new deal were in no way connected with political parties.

NO POLITICS

W. O. Wallace, representing the Sanich Board of Trade, agreed with the Mayor, stressing that politics must be kept out of both movements.

"We must educate the people of Vancouver Island to think alike in securing a new deal," said Mr. Winslow. "Some centres still believe that Victoria is out for the lion's share. Vancouver Island can be made a veritable paradise, but it must first have more and better roads. With so many young businessmen actively interested in a new deal there is absolutely no danger of the movement being sidetracked."

Mr. Winslow believed Vancouver Island should be made a separate Province. J. S. Pudney thought one hundred per cent of the people would be in favor of making the Island a Crown Colony. If they were informed of the benefits that would result.

WHAT IS NEEDED

"You will not have to go to those lexicons. Ten Island members in the Legislature, voting as one man, is all that we require to secure our new deal," answered Mr. Elick.

Mr. Elick informed those present that 40,000 pamphlets, containing articles on the way Vancouver Island had been neglected by all Governments, which appeared in The Daily Colonist, had been delivered to citizens of Greater Victoria and sent to twenty-two Up-Island communities for distribution. He asserted that it was the intention of those interested to secure the signatures of at least sixty per cent of the provincial voters on the British Ambassador.

CONFIDENCE IN CANADA WANING

Britain Indifferent to Dominion, States W. B. Lanigan in Club Address

"English people are indifferent to Canada," stated W. B. Lanigan, well-known city resident, in an address delivered before the Rotary Club at its luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday. Mr. Lanigan had recently returned from several months' visit to the Old Country. The condition which exists was attributed by the speaker to the loss of confidence of the English financiers in the monetary and business dealings of Canadians. Financial activity of Vancouver and Mayor G. G. McGeer and in Ontario, as well as the condition of the C.N.R. lines in Canada, were cited by the speaker.

He maintained that Threadneedle Street, centre of the British financial world, was turning to Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. "Unless Canada attacks its problems with some courage, its condition will not be changed," he declared.

"CLEAN HOUSE" NEEDED
"They are not disposed to invest in Canada until we clean house," stated Mr. Lanigan.

In his address Mr. Lanigan reviewed the beauties of the English countryside and the loveliness of Scotland. He declared, however, that British Columbia was equally as pretty, but lacked the romance which existed behind the Scottish hills and countryside. "If we in British Columbia had that, we would be swamped with tourists," he stated.

Mr. Lanigan interspersed his address with many witty comments on various events he had seen. He referred to beer parlors here as "pubs" as compared with the bright, cheerful taprooms of England.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pape, billed as the "Pape-Duo" with their daughter, Miss Dorothy Pape, presented their act from the Police Bros' Circus, now appearing at the Bay Street Armories.

The men whose job it was to make the Irish peace after the trouble and launch the Free State had their work cut out.

Thereby hangs a tale, to this effect: There were moments when the conference with Mr. Lloyd George nearly broke down; but one night, when all seemed over, Lord Birkenhead, who was dining with Michael Collins, telephoned that they had reached a formula. The pair arrived in a state of enthusiasm and exuberance.

"Tell them the formula," said Birkenhead.

"Beard," said Michael, "it's slipped me, mind—you tell them."

Birkenhead scratched his head. "By gad!" he exclaimed. "It's slipped mine, too."

In such an atmosphere peace was made.

Tangled Love

CHAPTER XVII

Noel had forgotten about her sister. How ironic! For two years Elinor had visualized herself as mistress of that Spanish villa, and now, by a curious twist of fate, it was she, Noel, the plain girl Aunt Jessica had disinherited, who would be mistress of all Stephen possessed. Aunt Jessica, half-lived long enough to see this.

"I'm happy, too," she said. "So many doubts have already gone. What did Deems say?"

"He said, 'It's sweet,' Stephen beamed. 'I'm coming up and kiss my future daughter, and let me tell you, my boy, they broke the mold when Noel was made.'"

"In a few minutes Deems came in. Noel had never seen him in so happy a mood."

"Noel, my darling! Step back, Stephen, and let me have the right to kiss my daughter. I've always wanted a daughter."

Father and son, so alike, so perfect. Deems, young except for the feather of grey at his temples. Stephen, straight and blonde.

"We talked this over this afternoon," Deems said. "He wants to give you time, Noel."

"He can be sure of men now," she said, smiling at Stephen's face, flushed beneath the sunburn.

"But I want to be officially engaged to you. I want everybody to know."

"I'll call the papers tomorrow and announce it," said Deems.

"We'll come to town and buy the ring. Wait till you see the ring I'm going to get you."

Deems said, "Dear child, you never do anything but pack. This will be the last until your honeymoon."

"And for that, on life yacht, I'll need only my white ducks and sweaters," she said.

"Not the yacht," said Stephen. "Paris, Rome, London."

"I guess I'd better pack," said Noel.

"I'll go with you," said Stephen. "You won't," Deems said, laughing. "I am. You're going to stay here and ponder."

"Ponder? Over what?"

Deems alighted his arm through Noel's and laughed at his son.

"Over the fact that you are no longer a free man."

Linda's studio was vividly reminding her. Noel got down the worn suitcase and put her things into it. Deems lit a cigarette.

"I want to say this tonight," he said. "Don't be unhappy you can't love Stephen. I know in time you'll love him as he has never loved any other girl. But you, I know you, Noel, you will love Scott Court all your life."

"Stephen doesn't know. I don't want him to know. Deems, I'll be a good wife to him."

"That's why, I'm so delighted. Beatrice and I killed Stephen's illusions about love. You'll give them back to him again. Even though I can't love him, you can give him more than most girls."

AMUSEMENTS

Dominion—Richard Barthelmess in "Four Hours to Kill."

Playhouse—"The Good Fairy," featuring Margaret Sullivan.

clockroom boy who has stolen to get money, a rich woman planning to run away with her sweetheart, a handsome philanderer who preys on impressionable women.

While police frantically search for Barthelmess, he makes a telephone call that lures his victim to the lobby of the theatre. Then, just as the separate life dramas of the others are rising to their climaxes, he steps from his hiding place and shoots down the man before the eyes of an aghast audience.

How the criminal is caught, and how the tangled lives of the others are straightened out furnishes the climax to a thrilling drama.

COLUMBIA High adventure into that little buffer strip between the earth's atmosphere and interplanetary space forms the basis for "Lost in the Stratosphere," the comedy-drama with William Cagney, Edward G. Robinson and June Collyer, which opened yesterday at the Columbia Theatre.

PLAYHOUSE Herbert Marshall, Englishman, is perhaps the greatest exponent of what might be termed "the international accent," which combines the nuances of speech of both England and the United States and makes its user equally understandable in either country. Marshall is now appearing on the screen of the Playhouse Theatre as co-star with Margaret Sullivan in the Universal comedy, "The Good Fairy," adapted from the play by Ferenc Molnar.

CAPITOL Jean Harlow and William Powell, two of the most famous and colorful stars, become a co-starring team for the first time in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Reckless," which is now at the Capitol Theatre. The union of the two popular stars takes place in a lavish musical production against a dazzling background of theatrical Broadway.

SOCCER GRIPS GERMANY
The amazing growth of soccer in Germany is evident from the fact that there are about 13,500 clubs with about 700,000 players and 60,000 teams. In 1904 it was estimated about 9,500 played the game in this country. Every Sunday 30,000 soccer games are played throughout the country.

CUPID NAILS EX-CHAMPION

Jimmy McLarin Married to Miss Lillian Cupit in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, July 11.—Wedding bells chimed tonight for Jimmy McLarin, twice holder of the world's welter-weight title, and Miss Lillian Cupit, to climax a boy-and-girl romance which began shortly after the Vancouver Cell started his climb up the fistic ladder.

Undoubtedly a huge, white wedding bell, the smiling pair were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cupit, of Vancouver.

After a buffet supper, the newlyweds left for California, where they plan on sailing for Honolulu.

Charles "Pop" Foster, genial, white-haired manager of Jimmy since he started his ring career, acted as best man. Only relatives of the two families attended.

Jimmy's new status, however, does not mean he will give up fighting.

WANTS TITLE BACK
"I'd like to get that championship back," the former titleholder murmured as he paced around his family home prior to the ceremony, obviously more nervous than he ever was in the ring.

"But I won't fight Ross for nothing," he added. "Let them give me a good guarantee and I'll be right in there, and I'll win if the judges give me a half decent break."

"Pop" Foster said he had advised Jimmy to take the ring unless promoters could make it worth his while and assure him a square shake at the box office and in the ring.

"However," "Pop" added, "He's only twenty-nine and the next year or two should be his best and if the terms are right he'll probably fight."

"Pop" intimated an indoor fight between Barney Ross and Jimmy might be staged in New York this winter.

"New York is the only town big enough for that kind of a fight," he said, "and if they make it twenty rounds you'll need an army to keep 'em away."

Thrilling Plane Smash Is Feature Of Colonist News

THE thrilling crack-up of a big plane as it attempts to take off from Floyd Bennett Field, New York, for Rome, Italy, is to be seen in the current issue of The Colonist-Universal Newslet, now at the Dominion Theatre.

The Monteverde brothers, Portuguese noblemen, start slowly down the runway for the take-off on their long hop across the Atlantic. The heavy machine lifts a little, drops to the ground again and with difficulty takes to the air once more. One wing dips, then the other, and the craft plunges its nose into the ground. As if by miracle, the airmen escape without a scratch.

Other important events to be seen in the current reel include the latest developments in Washington, D.C., with a new interview by Senator Wagner explaining his Social Security bill and the first meeting of the new NRA board; first authentic motion pictures of Quetta, British Baluchistan, devastated by an earthquake which took 20,000 lives, and a corps of bathing beauties at Ocean City, N.J., taking over fire apparatus and answering alarms while the regular vamps are attending convention.

STONE BACK IN BAT RACE

Washington Player Replaces Joe Vosmik in Group—Medwick Wins

(By the Associated Press)
Johnny Stone, of Washington, replaced Joe Vosmik, of Cleveland, in the Big Six yesterday as all the other members except Bob Johnson, American League leader, had a fairly profitable day at bat. Stone, hitting twice in four times up, raised his average three points to 339 to pass Vosmik, who took a five-point drop.

Joe Medwick and Bill Terry each gained two points with two blows in four visits to the plate, while Arky Vaughan and Charley Gehring hit one out of three to keep their marks unchanged.

Boston Red Sox to a 4-3 win over Chicago, the White Sox sluggers fell on four of his battery-mates to capture the other half of today's double-header, 10-2.

Zeke Bonura, who blasted off his sixteenth and seventeenth homers, poled the first circuit blow with two on against "Long John" Welch in the first inning of the second game. The Boston cause became hopelessly lost in the fourth, when the slugging first-sacker found "Dusty" Rhodes for the other one, which came with one on base.

Manager Joe Cronin, suffering from an ailing stomach, had to retire from action during the sixth inning of the opener.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
PITTSBURGH, July 11 (AP).—Roy Parnelle gained his tenth pitching victory of the season today and the Giants their second of their Western tour, but they had a stiff battle before they turned back the Pirates, 4-2, today.

Parnelle, who has lost only two decisions this year, held the Bucs to four hits as he bested the veteran "Red" Lucas on the hill. He had one burst of wildness, however, and that tied the score at 1-1 going into the eighth inning. The Giants lost loose with a fourth, three-run burst in that frame and won the game before Bill Swift could be hurried to Lucas' rescue.

Batteries—Parnelle and Mancuso; Lucas, Swift and Padden.

Cubs Beat Braves
CHICAGO, July 11 (AP).—Tex Carleton's "30-year spell" over the Boston Braves was strengthened today as the slim right-hander of the Chicago Cubs, aided by home runs by Tuck Stainback and Augie Galan and some spectacular second-basing by Billy Herman, turned back the Braves, 5-3. It was Carleton's ninth victory in his last ten starts against the Bostonians.

Until he weakened under an intensive sun in the evening, the former Cardinal hurler held the Braves to three hits, two of them scratches.

TOP SOFTBALL SQUADS DROP LEAGUE TILTS

Brundson's Boys and Silent Glows Defeated—Poodle Dog Wins

Making a great bid for the championship of the "A" section of the City Softball League, Brundson's Boys and Silent Glows met disaster yesterday evening, and their mad dash to Penganville was temporarily halted.

Bert Waudes took the Esquimalt boys into camp and handed them an 8-5 setback at Bull's Park, while the New Method Laundry, former city and Island champions, took advantage of loose fielding in the early innings to chalk up a 7-4 decision over the burnermen at Victoria West Park.

In the other "A" section fixture, Civic Staff came through with flying colors when they trounced the Army, 18-0, at Work Point Barracks.

Doubles by Fred Sutton and Eddie Short, in the third and fifth frames, respectively, each driving in two runs, brought Bert Waudes through to an 8-5 victory over Brundson's Boys. The Esquimalt nine took a three-run lead in the first inning, only to have the hairdressers go out in front in the third frame and remain there for the remainder of the game.

Score by innings:
Brundson's Boys 300 002 000-5
Bert Waudes 114 020 008-8
Batteries—Palmer and Munro; A. McBride and M. McBride.

TAKE EARLY LEAD
Pushing over four markers in the first inning when the Silent Glows booted the ball in miserable fashion, New Method Laundry went to the front in their fixture at Victoria West and were never headed.

The laundry boys added three runs in the seventh frame with the bases loaded. Two double killings, unassisted, by Henley and Moir, of the winners, gave the fans an added thrill.

CAFEMEN BEAT BRUINS
Hitting the ball hard in the pinches, Poodle Dog Cafe softballers turned back Painter's Bruins under a 10-7 score, in a fast and exciting fixture played at the Royal Athletic Park before a good following of fans.

Poodle Dog opened the scoring in the second frame by pushing two runs across the home plate, and put on a trio of markers in the next canno when Jack O'Connor, youthful outfielder, laced a hot drive to the outer gardens for a circuit smash and sent two players scampering over the plate in front of him.

They added another run in the fifth, three more in the eighth and one in the last inning.

Bruins garnered their first tally in the third stanza, drove four more in the fifth, and scored one run in the seventh and again in the eighth for a total of seven runs.

Tommy Johnston started for the Poodle Dog Cafe and worked for five innings, during which the Bruins scored five runs. He was replaced in the sixth by Pete Sweeney, who held the fuel men to two markers.

Score by innings:
Poodle Dog Cafe 002 316 031-10
Painter's Bruins 001 060 110-7
Batteries—Johnston, Sweeney and Harris; Jewsbury and Kirkbride.

EAGLES WIN
At Spencer's Park, Eagles nosed out Kreges, 5-2, in a ding-dong battle, while at Central Park, Hogarth's circuit smash, in the ninth inning, brought the Bapco through to a 6-5 victory over the Navy.

Spencer's Diamond "B" boys continued to win as they played when they wallowed the Revellers, 19-2, at Central Park. It was Sid Carr's thirteenth straight victory of the season, as the club kept its winning streak intact.

Hudson's Bay scored a 17-13 decision over the Hustlers, at Memorial Park, in another "C" section fixture.

At Victoria West Park Harris' Cyclettes showed Smeja's Machines under, 18-0.

Several U.S. Players Expected for Tourney

Prominent American Tennis Stars May Seek Canadian and British Columbia Titles at the Willows Courts, July 22-27

With the Pacific Northwest tennis-minded at present, the new big tournament, as far as Victoria is concerned, is the annual Canadian championships, which will be run-off on the courts of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club at the Willows during the week of July 22 to 27, inclusive. In conjunction with the Dominion classic will be the British Columbia title meet, which is staged annually at the popular club.

Although not definite yet, the cream of the touring American players, now competing in the Washington State tournament, is expected to show action in Victoria. Practically all the Canadian titles will be left open for new champions this year with all the defenders at Sacramento, California State boys' present in the Old Country, Marcel Rainville, Bobby Murray, Roland Longtin, Laird Watt, all of Montreal, and Caroline Deacon and Eleanor Young, of Vancouver, are still in England and cannot possibly be back in time to defend the titles they captured a year ago in the East.

EXPECTED HERE
Included in the men's competition is expected the following: Worth Oswald, San Francisco, present California State champion; Howard Blithen, San Francisco; Lloyd Budge, Oakland; Charles C. WHY DO WE CALL IT A "GAS"? Today, gas may mean almost anything from an invisible blue flame to a high school student naively defined it in a chemistry examination, to any one of the numerous associations with which we are familiar. Van Helmont found that many substances upon being heated, for instance, gave off what we today know as aeriform fluids. These were quite mysterious. In most cases, invisible, their actions and effects were unpredictable. The entire state of existing knowledge on the subject was a jumbled mass of superstition and pseudo-scientific error.

Van Helmont himself regarded these emanations with awe—many of their characteristics were supernatural—and to them he applied the generic term gas, after the Greek word chaos, meaning confusion.
